

Ruben Oskar Auervaara

was one of Finland's most legendary criminals. His name has become a concept: Auervaara refers to a ladies' man whose goal is to gain financial benefit through deceitful promises. In 1945, he became nationally famous when the criminal police published his photo in Finland's largest newspapers in an effort to get his victims to come forward. That is what happened, and Auervaara was arrested. He spent a total of 26 years in various prisons. It is said that he personally requested to be sent to Kakola.
